

DOCUMENT 2: QoS CLASSIFICATION

Context Grounding Knowledge Base: QoS Classification for Car Leasing Call Center

1. System Overview

This document provides comprehensive guidelines for classifying Quality of Service (QoS) levels in car leasing call center conversations. There are 6 QoS levels ranging from Informational to Critical.

2. QoS Classification Principle

Select the highest QoS level found in the conversation according to priority:

Critical > Exception > Action Required > Coordination > Inquiry > Informational

3. QoS Levels Summary

Level	QoS Level	Definition	Typical Trigger
1	Informational	Customer seeks general information only; no action required.	General questions, office hours, leasing options
2	Inquiry	Customer asks specific questions about their own account or contract.	Next payment due, lease balance, contract end date
3	Coordination	Requires scheduling, follow-up, or inter-department coordination.	Call back, schedule, arrange, reschedule
4	Action Required	Requires data modification or document processing.	Update address, change payment method, send contract copy
5	Exception	System error, process failure, or data mismatch requiring investigation.	Not posted, incorrect balance, duplicate charge
6	Critical	Severe business impact, legal risk, or immediate action required.	Lawyer, fraud, repossession, regulator, urgent complaint

11. Classification Rules

Key Rules

- QoS Priority Order: Always select the highest level found.
- Multiple issues in one conversation: Select the highest QoS level.
- Escalation keywords: If words like lawyer, legal, fraud are found, immediately classify as Critical.
- Repeated problems: If customer mentions the same problem multiple times, the level may elevate from Exception to Critical depending on severity.
- Analyze entire conversation: Consider all customer statements to determine the highest QoS level.

12. Detailed Classification Examples

Example 1: Informational

Conversation

Customer: Can you tell me about your leasing options for SUVs?

Analysis

Customer seeking general information only.

Result

QoS = Informational

Example 2: Inquiry

Conversation

Customer: When is my next payment due? Can you also check my current lease balance?

Analysis

Customer asking specific questions about their account.

Result

QoS = Inquiry

Example 3: Coordination

Conversation

Customer: I need to schedule a vehicle pickup for next week. Can someone call me back to arrange a time?

Analysis

Requires scheduling and follow-up.

Result

QoS = Coordination

Example 4: Action Required

Conversation

Customer: Please update my mailing address and send me a new copy of my contract.

Analysis

Requires data modification and document processing.

Result

QoS = Action Required

Example 5: Exception

Conversation

Customer: I made my payment three days ago but your system still shows my account as overdue. This is the second time this has happened.

Analysis

Payment posting failure, system error, repeated issue.

Result

QoS = Exception

Example 6: Critical

Conversation

Customer: This is unacceptable. My vehicle was repossessed incorrectly and I will contact my lawyer if this is not resolved immediately.

Analysis

Legal threat, wrongful repossession, immediate escalation required.

Result

QoS = Critical

Example 7: Multiple Issues - Select Highest

Conversation

Customer: Can you update my phone number? Also, my last payment was not posted correctly and I am worried this will affect my credit score. If this is not fixed, I will have to file a complaint.

Analysis

Update phone number = Action Required; payment not posted = Exception; file complaint threat = Critical.

Result

QoS = Critical (highest level found)

13. Output Format for QoS Classification

```
{
  "QoS": "Exception",
  "Reason": "Brief explanation of why this QoS level was selected",
  "KeywordsFound": ["list of QoS keywords identified"],
}
```

```
"IssueType": "payment posting failure, system error"
}
```

14. Key Principles for QoS Classification

- Always select the highest QoS level found in the conversation.
- Consider the entire conversation, not just individual statements.
- Escalation keywords automatically elevate to Critical.
- Repeated exceptions may become Critical depending on severity.
- Business impact and urgency determine QoS level.
- Legal threats, fraud claims, or regulatory issues are always Critical.
- System errors and data mismatches are Exception.
- Simple requests for changes are Action Required.
- Scheduling and coordination needs are Coordination.
- Account-specific questions are Inquiry.
- General information requests are Informational.
